

The European Day of languages

Hello, we are pupils of the option LCE. Today we will talk about the European Day of languages because it is an important day.

At first, what is the European Day of languages?

It was created on 6 December 2001, by the European commission, so this year we celebrate this 20th anniversary. Now it is celebrated every 26 September. All European countries can celebrate this day. During this day, people can do activities like challenges, make posters and do competitions for encouraging people to learn new languages.

Why it is important to learn another language?

It is important to learn another language for a lot of reasons. For example, for your personal culture, to meet new people, to travel in another country, also it can be better to listen or read in the original version.

To conclude, you must learn a new to be a better person!
